

Now that you own a piece of Morfar Smoke Fired Pottery here are a few tips on how to keep it beautiful for years to come.

1. Avoid excessive or rough handling. Although the smoke decoration is permanent it can be smudged and some soot may transfer to the handler.
2. Try to avoid bumping the piece on anything hard or dropping the piece. This will most likely cause the piece to shatter and, depending on how long you have owned it, a few tears to be shed.
3. DO NOT use this piece for food.
4. This piece does not hold water. A coating of shellac, resin or beeswax may make it water resistant but may also mar the piece and/or still result in water damage.

Enjoy and thank you for becoming a collector of decorative pottery.
